Chris Huen, MuiMui and Doodood, 2017. Oil on canvas, 200 x 320 cm

Pilar Corrias is pleased to present Of Humdrum Moments, the second solo exhibition with the gallery by Hong Kong artist Chris HUEN Sin Kan.

Huen's oil paintings are typified by his meticulous depiction of personal, and yet, commonplace occurrences observed at his home and studio. His works materialise as delicate scenes due to their subdued colours and light gestural brushstrokes. Huen paints quickly to capture his recurrent protagonists—wife Haze; son Joel; dogs Doodood, MuiMui, and Balltsz; or various houseplants—before the moment passes. It is through painting that Huen studies the nuances of looking.

In this new body of work Huen focuses his attention towards exploring 'humdrum moments'. For Huen, humdrum moments permeate our everyday lives, but constantly escape our consciousness. They are the bits and pieces of information that are part of a scene but fall away from our impression of a place. We tend to forget or neglect them for the ease of narrating 'our day'—they could be the way a piece of clothing is folded across the body or the colour and shade of a leaf. We can overlook these objects and phenomena, perhaps, because we cannot locate ourselves in them: they physically exist but no narrative emanates from them to us on a conscious level.

Huen's work is defined by the process of alighting on seemingly indistinct scenes, that for most people, are left out of the process of understanding life. He pushes to shift our perception of objects and phenomena, and how we comprehend our relation to them.
